Next Year in Lutheran Education: Format and Publication Changes

Beginning in fall of 2000, Lutheran Eduation will shift from publishing five times annually (every other month during the academic year) to a quarterly publication cycle: Issues of the journal will appear Fall (October), Winter (before Christmas), Spring (near Easter), and Summer (at the end of the school year). The total amount of content of the journal will increase slightly as we move from five issues of 60 pages each (300 pages annually) to four quarterly issues of 80 pages each (320 pages annually). The new format will allow for slightly longer and more substantive articles and for the reintroduction of a book review section, with review essays introducing readers to important books in the various fields of Lutheran education and addressing key issues currently being debated in these fields.

Each issue will also include a space entitled "LE Forum" in which to feature selected responses to articles in the previous issue, allowing for thoughtful, reasoned response and enable differing viewpoints to be heard. The journal will remain in its current 6 by 9 inch format, but it is hoped that the shift to quarterly publication will allow the look and feel of the journal to be upgraded.
